

CIVIL DEFENSE AGENCY

On matters of civil defense as they relate to public schools, it shall be the policy of the Monroe County Board of Education to cooperate with the West Virginia Department of Civil Defense and Mobilization and the Monroe County Civil Defense Agency. The Board desires to work closely with the county civil defense agency since this agency has the responsibility of coordinating programs at the county level. Many of the schools of the county have been designated as fall-out shelters by the agency. Also, master maps are being prepared by the agency, showing how citizens may reach fall-out shelters in case of disasters or emergencies occurring at any hour of the day or night.