

SPECIAL PROGRAMS

We believe that in order to have a truly comprehensive program of instruction, it is necessary to provide learning experiences in special programs for those youngsters who have the ability to succeed in a special program but who cannot successfully compete in the regular classroom, and for those pupils of normal and above normal ability who need special training in an area of personal benefit.

Some of the programs of this type offered to pupils in the county include special education classes for educable children from the primary level through high school graduation, classes for trainable pupils, classes for educationally disadvantaged pupils, homebound instruction, speech and hearing therapy, classes for students having learning disabilities, and a program for the gifted and talented students.
